

Give your son
the opportunity to grow into a stronger, more confident and connected Jewish man

Something about Shevet Achim: The Brotherhood

8th and 9th grade boys meet every month!

The teen years are an exciting but turbulent time when boys are dealing with competition, aggression, masculinity, relationships, and other issues. It's when friendship and mentorship are most needed, and the values and support of Jewish community can be a positive guiding force. This is why Shevet Achim exists.

In small peer groups with trained adult mentors, Shevet Achim creates experiences where boys can bond and have open conversations about real teen issues once a month. This fun and transformative experience empowers boys to grow into adulthood with confidence, compassion, and purpose.

Shevet Achim, and its sister program Rosh Hodesh, are signature programs of Moving Traditions—a national nonprofit committed to creating meaningful teen experiences that encourage self-discovery, promote self-confidence, and strengthen connections with the Jewish community.
